

Figure 2.1a. Humidity Cell

To evaluate the performance of draft test methods and evaluate the effects of CO₂-enhanced air, the study involved two laboratories and the three sample types described above (shale, sandstone, and limestone). Laboratory 1 (Geochemical Testing) was tasked with implementing both draft leaching column and humidity cell methods using duplicate samples exposed to two

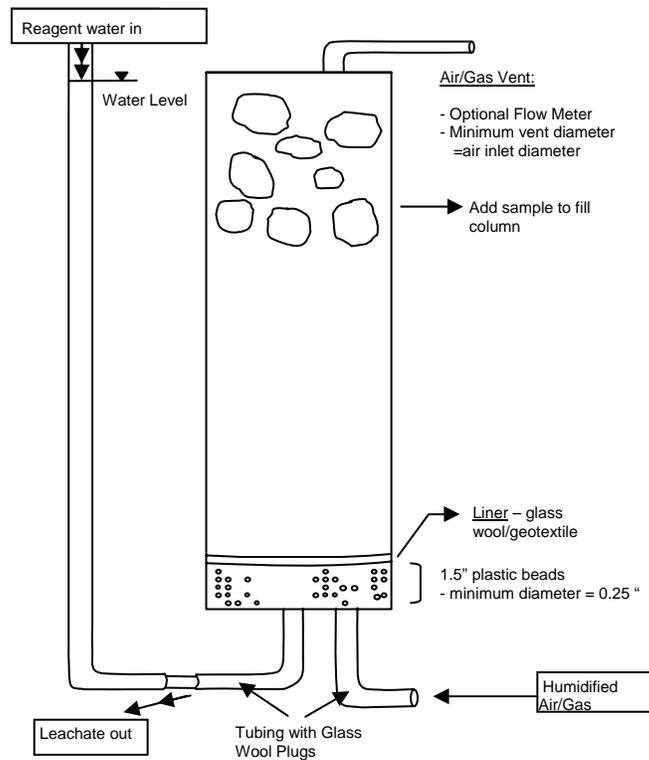

Figure 2.1b. Leaching Column